

Grandparents' Day held at EES

Evarts Elementary School students in grades Pre-K through 2 were delighted to have lunch with some very special visitors on Tuesday September 12th in the school cafeteria in honor of Grandparent's Day.

The staff welcomed an impressive number of grandparents in an effort to recognize the enormous impact they have on shaping the students' lives. In addition to the opportunity to have lunch with their grandchild(ren), grandparents were able to shop at the Fall Book Fair with the students.

Many of the grandparents who participated said it was a great way to spend their lunch and they were thankful for the opportunity to spend time with their grandchildren.

The students were excited to have their grandparents visit them at school as well.

"It felt real good to see my Nana because I miss her when I'm at school. I was scared because I didn't know if she was here but when I saw her I felt good," said Dustin Pendergrass a second grader in Mrs. Bolin's class, grandson of Candy Caudill.

Stella Cochran, a first grader in Ms. Johnson's class, added "Actually, it made me very happy, at first, when I saw my Mamaw. But, at lunch I was even happier because I love my lunch and I love my Mamaw too! Then, she took me to the book fair and bought me a cute journal and eraser."

"Grandparents play a major role in the lives of our students. It was a pleasure to open the doors of our school to welcome them in and show our appreciation for what they do for our school and our children," commented Evarts Elementary School Principal Sherry Anglian. "We want to take every opportunity we can to interact with our students' families and look forward to offering more family centered events in the near future."
